

Medical meets SMT

Oct 15, 2024 | Filderhalle Leinfelden

What is Medical meets SMT about??

Topic and Concept

Manufacture of Medical Electronics

The trend in medical technology towards smaller, lighter and, above all, intelligent and personalized medical and personalized medical products continues.

This requires ever more efficient methods of electronics production and more powerful electrical and electronic components. Areas of application include sensors, in-body electronics, embedded systems, image processing and communication.

Target group:

Decision-makers in

- medical technology – people with responsibility for high quality electronics
- electronics production - decision-makers in companies with their own electronics production (OEM/EMS), developers/designers with a focus on design for manufacturing

For this event EPP and medizin & Technik, Konradin's No. 1 media platform for medical technology in Germany, are joining forces.

Demonstrate your presence in a centrally important market and participate as a partner.
